The Ladbroke Grove, Chelsea

Developer Taylor Wimpey Architect Alford Hall Monaghan Morris Developer Taylor Wimpey Main Contractor Josh Sisk and Son

The Challenge

Stylish hard landscaping materials that would complement the brick buildings on site.

The Ladbroke Grove was developed to reflect a contemporary, yet timeless, urban theme. The developer worked with UK and US architect, Alford Hall Monaghan Morris, in designing the lavish apartments which required stylish hard landscaping materials that would complement the brick buildings on site.

Amrik Gaheer, Architectural Designer at Allford Hall Monaghan Morris, explained the design brief for the scheme: “We were set the task of designing the apartments to top standards of quality and to be highly functional, whilst adding uniqueness and aesthetic variation to the residential blocks and surrounding landscape.”

The Solution

Tobermore's Pembury, a versatile block paving product with a textured surface finish, and Textured Flags, a unique paving slab with a granular surface were specified for this project.

The blended colour of Bracken from the Pembury range and the soft colour of Buff from the Textured Flags range were chosen as a complementary colour combination to go alongside the dark brick facade of the apartment buildings. The combination of products chosen reflected the contemporary yet timeless vision for the project wonderfully.

The Tobermore products used worked with our landscaping budget and they turned out very well, matching the different brick tones on site without dominating the space. We would be very happy to use Tobermore products again in future.
